Facts About Legacy High School

Kitchen: Known as the Saber-Toothed Grill, students enter through the middle doors, grab a beverage and choose a food station, then exit through 2 side doors for efficient traffic flow at mealtime. Lunch is an open cafeteria style. Students grab their lunch during their personalized scheduled free time.

Phy. Ed & Athletic Spaces: The Haussler Gym has 3 courts and 1,750 seats. There is north and south bleacher seating with a 4-lane running track above that can hold 270. The school store, known as Claw Corner, concessions and trophy case are located outside the main gym. The auxiliary gym has 2 courts and seats 750. Both gyms, weight room, treadmills, etc. will be used for P.E. with a focus on youth fitness.

Fine Arts & Performance Spaces: The first dedicated orchestra room in the school district is at LHS. There are also band and choir rooms with small soundproof practice areas. Auditorium seats 600. The orchestra pit can be covered to create additional floor seating (50). Behind the Auditorium stage are dressing rooms and a prep area for building sets. There's a smaller Black Box Theatre adjacent to the Auditorium to hold one act plays and other events.

About Legacy High School

Legacy High School is a new high school in Bismarck, ND. It opened in August 2015. For the 2015-2016 school year, Legacy High School will be home to freshmen, sophomores, and juniors. Construction continues on some parts of the building, as well as the outdoor fields. The Legacy Saber school colors are Vegas gold, white, and black.

Bond Approval: Sept. 18, 2012, by 85% of voters
Building Cost: $55.5 million
Building Size: 289,000 square feet on about 65 acres
The last public senior high to open in Bismarck was Century High School in 1975.

Features: Energy efficient and tech-ready with natural light and safety features throughout the school.

Facts About Legacy High School

Classrooms: Many rooms have garage-like doors that can be opened to create larger spaces for project work, multi-class lectures, etc. With the exception of lab classes, few teachers have their own classrooms. They move around the school during the day with a rolling lectern, computer, and other teaching materials to facilitate flexible scheduling and accelerate 21st century learning. Teachers have a work room with a desk and locker.

Labs: Lab Courses have large hallway windows like the Career Academy so passersby can see hands-on learning taking place and interest students in taking lab classes.

Presentation Stairs: There are 2 large staircases which double as extra seating; people can sit on the stairs and watch a student or adult give a presentation to provide additional learning space.

Work Stations: Each floor has a glassed-in station for students/staff to work in small groups similar to businesses where employees are visible and available when working in groups, as needed, to complete a project.

Saber Learning Centers: Content learning areas are staffed throughout the day to assist students with school work and homework.

Furniture: Movable furniture can create lecture settings or collaborative spaces in classrooms and public areas; limited cupboards and casework.

Facts About Legacy High School

Commons: This area is called the Marketplace and seats 494 people for breakfast, lunch, off periods, or non-school related activities. It's located near the main gym and Career Center above the library. Flexible furniture will create learning spaces when not in use for food services. There are a variety of table types/sizes for people to congregate and interact.

Library: Known as the Learning Commons, the library is located below the Marketplace for student/staff convenience. It's an open concept environment that includes a Makerspace which invites students to create and discover using technology and buildable objects. Materials, including E-books and other electronic resources, are available in the Learning Commons and can be dispersed throughout LHS where students are working.

Career Center: Counseling and school counseling staff will be housed in this open student-friendly area. Students can look up information online about scholarships, colleges, careers, etc. and have direct access to counselors in the Career Center throughout their day.
