HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 3036

A concurrent resolution commemorating the twentieth anniversary of the Red River flood of 1997.

WHEREAS, the record-setting North Dakota winter of 1996-97 featured eight named blizzards resulting in record snowfall accumulations for Grand Forks, Fargo, and Bismarck; and

WHEREAS, on February 14, 1997, the National Weather Service predicted severe flooding along the Red River of the North, including all tributaries, between Wahpeton and Pembina, North Dakota, and subsequently projected flood crests of 17.9 feet in Wahpeton, 38 feet in Fargo, and 49 feet in Grand Forks; and

WHEREAS, Blizzard "Hannah" on April 5-6, 1997, caused an estimated loss of 90,000 head of cattle, downed the 2,060-foot KXJB-TV broadcast tower, toppled nearly 6,000 power poles, and forced approximately 90,000 homes to be without electricity; and

WHEREAS, flood waters along the Red River crested at 19.42 feet on April 6, 1997, and 19.25 feet on April 15, 1997, in Wahpeton and 39.72 feet on April 18, 1997, in Fargo; and

WHEREAS, the flood waters pushed miles beyond the banks of the Red River, swamping fields, roads, and towns, submerging an area roughly the size of Delaware; and

WHEREAS, the flood waters in Grand Forks were 4 feet deep throughout downtown, covered rooftops in some neighborhoods, reached inland approximately 3 miles, and ultimately damaged 9,001 homes and 751 businesses; and

WHEREAS, the Grand Forks water treatment plant failed on the morning of April 19, 1997, leaving residents without water for 13 days and without potable water for 23 days; and

WHEREAS, on April 19, 1997, a fire started at the Security Building in a flooded downtown Grand Forks, spread over 3 city blocks, and destroyed 11 historic buildings over the course of two days; and

WHEREAS, the Grand Forks Air Force Base provided instrumental support throughout the disaster, including serving as a shelter for 3,500 evacuees and a medical shelter for more than 400 civilian patients, assembling approximately 800,000 of the 3.5 million sandbags used by the city of Grand Forks, and providing military equipment for fire suppression, evacuation, and civilian transport; and

WHEREAS, 694 homes and 493 other structures in Grand Forks were demolished following the flood, an additional 850 properties were purchased and demolished through a voluntary buyout program, and 161 homes and 414 structures were relocated to other properties to make space for permanent flood protection; and

WHEREAS, in addition to the more than $48 million in damage to University of North Dakota buildings, 16 of the 22 schools owned by Grand Forks Public School District suffered a total $72 million in damages, including 3 schools which suffered catastrophic damage; and

WHEREAS, the City of Grand Forks has adopted other flood-stricken communities across the country to assist in flood prevention and management practices, including St. Bernard Parish, Louisiana; Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Minot, North Dakota; Findley, Ohio; and Biloxi, Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, flood mitigation lessons learned from the Red River flood of 1997 have been applied to city plans and flood prevention projects in communities throughout the Upper Midwest, including the cities of Valley City, Bismarck, Minot, Wahpeton, and Fargo;

SECOND READING OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

HCR 3036: A concurrent resolution commemorating the twentieth anniversary of the Red River flood of 1997.

REQUEST

REP. MOCK REQUESTED that the following remarks from himself and from Rep. Carlson be printed in the Journal.

REMARKS OF REPRESENTATIVE MOCK

There have been no parties. No balloons. And no cake. But over the last 6 months, we've silently celebrated 8 birthdays – each one turning 20 years old.

You, understandably, may not recall any of these names, but their description will likely ring a bell.

Andy brought an early start to winter with a ferocious 12 inches of snow; Betty and Christopher – arriving with days of each other – collectively added another 12 inches of snow just before Christmas.

Doris and Elmo were the coldest members of this family, together bringing more than 8 inches of back pain and sending wind chill temperatures down to 80 below zero. Franzi followed suit and piled another 8 inches of misery on top of the heap, while Gust was a late winter terror which caused everyone in the valley to cringe.

The most famous of this family was Hannah. She shaped our lives in a way no one could imagine. On April 4th, she rolled into the valley bringing wind, freezing rain, and snow – none of which was welcome as cities along the Red River Valley were already battling against rising flood waters.

Hannah devastated everything she touched. She destroyed sandbag dikes in Richland County; froze cars, houses, and trees within flood waters; claimed the lives of nearly 100,000 head of cattle; left almost 90,000 homes without power for a week, and even toppled the then second-tallest structure in the world, the KXJB broadcast tower in Blanchard.

The wrath created by the "birth" of these 8 brothers and sisters is why we celebrate another anniversary today.

Throughout the spring of 1997, North Dakotans and Minnesotans living in the Red River Valley frantically prepared for a flood of historic magnitude. It was a "100-year flood," newscasters would say. Forecasts from the National Weather Service predicted flood waters would crest at 17.9 feet in Wahpeton, 38 feet in Fargo, and 49 feet in Grand Forks.

Each city took necessary precautions. Wahpeton froze within flood waters overcame many of the city's dikes and crested at nearly 19.5 feet, then 19.25 feet one week later. Our friends in Fargo watched nervously as the river inched towards 40 feet and soaked the highest sandbags of nearly every dike in town. While most of Fargo was spared significant damage, some neighborhoods in south and northeast Fargo weren't nearly as fortunate.

And then there was Grand Forks.

City engineers designed and built flood protection up to 52-feet – 49 feet of flooding as predicted and 3 additional feet for freeboard. But in a moment, you'll understand why the Red River flood of 1997 answered the question: "how do you drown in 3 feet of water?"

I'd like to ask members to imagine that today is April 18th, 1997.

It's 4:15 in the morning; a Friday. Grand Forks officials made the call and ordered the evacuation of Lincoln Park. Our neighbors -- at least those who were sleeping -- were quickly awakened as sirens were activated.

"Can you blast the sirens real hard down in Lincoln Drive?" ordered one official as he called 911 just before 5am.

The uncomfortable noise of civil defense sirens would continue to drown any remaining optimism over the next several days as the river rapidly topped dikes, neighborhood by neighborhood.

Later this afternoon, dikes around Central Park will prove to be too short as homes around the water treatment plant begin to fill with water.

Early tomorrow morning, Riverside neighborhood will be the next to succumb to still-rising waters. At 8 a.m. on Saturday, April 19th, our city's water treatment plant will fail and leave our water lines ironically dry for the next 23 days.

Around 4 p.m. on Saturday is when the unthinkable call is made to 911: a fire has broken out in downtown Grand Forks. The blaze started in the historic Security Building and timbers will hop from building to building in the high wind and ultimately claim 11 of our oldest buildings, 60 apartments, and nearly 120 years of archives from the Pulitzer Prize winning Grand Forks Herald.

Within 72 hours, nearly 60,000 of our neighbors -- 90% of Grand Forks and all East Grand Forks -- will secure their place in history as part of the largest civilian evacuation in the United States since Atlanta, GA was cleared in 1864 during the American Civil War.

Water four feet deep will flow over city streets and spread nearly 3 miles into town. 83% of homes and 62% of businesses -- 9,001 and 751, respectively -- will ultimately suffer damage after waters finally recede more than a month from now.

Our friends at Grand Forks Air Force Base have always been -- and will continue to be -- incredible neighbors though thick and thin. Airmen, officers, and families will step up to fill 800,000 of the 3.5 million sandbags, build dikes and levees, and provide the equipment needed to fight back flames that ravaged our city. Our Air Force Base will also be a vital lifeline that eventually houses more than 400 hospital patients and 3,500 evacuees. And students at Grand Forks Central high school will forever remember the year they had their prom on base.

History will be generous to more than 20,000 volunteers who will help Grand Forks through flood prevention and recovery. The city will clear 60,000 tons of water-logged memories from a community that only produces 40,000 tons of garbage in a year.

We will eventually lose 1,000 homes and 500 other buildings when we write the final chapter of the 1997 flood, but we won't lose more than 3% of our population and our city will recover to be stronger and more resilient than ever through this fight.

"Adversity reveals character," a future mayor (Michael Brown) will say. And time will prove that he was never more correct.

Grand Forks, and all towns in the 1997 flood, are communities of grit and determination. Residents refused to buckle, even when the river roared through their homes. And one day we will be able to celebrate the anniversary of this $4 billion natural disaster knowing that we persevered without a single loss of life.

And now, back to present day:

As a member of the Grand Forks delegation, and as one of the many legislators who serve a community impacted by the floods of 1997, I say thank you to everyone filled a sandbag, watched the pumps, fought the flames, rescued memories, shoveled debris, and rebuilt our homes. No effort was too big or too small.

Today's anniversary could be somber. But instead I choose to celebrate the accomplishments of North Dakota, and our nation, as we came together to fight a common foe in service and defense of friends and perfect strangers alike. We are a strong North Dakota, now and forever, and today is a great reminder of our potential when we all pull in the same direction.

On behalf of all communities affected by the flood of 1997: we are grateful.

REMARKS OF REPRESENTATIVE CARLSON

If you can remember - for a lot of you that were here - it took us almost six years to pay off the bills because of the flood that happened in 1997. And even though Fargo didn't burn, it was a tragedy for the State of North Dakota and there was no vandalism. There were no fires burning as the Excel Energy folks and the Cass County energy folks were pulling meters off the houses standing in water. I rented a big pay loader, I remember, and I had to drive over an eight feet-high dike and almost tipped it over sliding up and down over that slimy dike. For a week I hauled people in who volunteered to help save other people's houses. We hauled sand bags and food in for a week. We took canoes to the houses that weren't under water just to check on them and make sure the pumps were working. So we didn't burn but we had a tremendous amount of damage in our city. There's been a lot of discussion and Grand Forks has done some more permanent diking and some more permanent things that have helped prevent that situation from happening again in their city.

Fargo is still addressing those issues and I can tell you that it is a disaster in cities that have flood problems and as a State we need to step forward. But probably the best memory I have of all, is all the people that came to help. They came from Minnesota and South Dakota, Iowa and Canada and they filled sand bag after sand bag. They worked, they made food and the Red Cross was there when we needed them. Unfortunately, we were in a position where my community was unable to help yours because we were struggling to save our own. Well when we went into floods in future years, we protected them as well.

To this day, my city has still not lost the flood fight and everybody has a different opinion about protection but I can tell you that we cannot afford to lose our major cities or our small towns. The biggest thing is to thank people, because you quickly forget. When you're driving home and all you see are rows of power poles snapped off and laying in the ice on the ground and your saying "now not only do we have a flood, but we don't have power". It was a situation that I hope never gets repeated. I've been through many of them in Fargo and I hope I never see another one but it's inevitable and some days the water will rise and hopefully we're protected but this was just a little way of saying thank you to the citizens of North Dakota. We found out how resilient our people are and we hope that spirit never leaves this State.
