13          a. The organization shall approve a claim for benefits in which the employee is an 14           essential worker whose injury resulted from the exposure to and contraction of 15           COVID-19 as provided under this subsection.
16          b. Exposure to and contraction of COVID-19 for purposes of benefits under this 17           subsection is presumed to have arisen out of and in the course of the essential 18           worker's employment and is presumed to be causally connected to the hazards 19           or exposures of the essential worker's employment.
20          c. An essential worker's home or residence is not a place of employment, except for 21           a home care worker.
22          d. A party may rebut a presumption created in this subsection by submitting 23           evidence, which may include:
24           (1) The essential worker was working from home, on leave from employment, 25           or some combination thereof, for a period of fourteen or more consecutive 26           days immediately before the essential worker's injury or period of incapacity
27           resulting from exposure to COVID-19;
28           (2) The employer was engaging in and applying to the fullest extent possible or 29           enforcing to the best of the employer's ability industry-specific workplace 30           sanitation, social distancing, and health and safety practices consistent with 31           recommendations issued by the federal centers for disease control and

1 prevention and the state department of health, or was using a combination 2 of administrative controls, engineering controls, or personal protective 3 equipment to reduce the transmission of COVID-19 to all essential workers 4 for at least fourteen consecutive days before the essential worker's injury or 5 period of incapacity resulting from exposure to COVID-19; or 6 (3) The essential worker was exposed to COVID-19 by an alternate source.

7 e. A presumption created in this subsection applies if an essential worker provides a 8 positive laboratory test for COVID-19 or for COVID-19 antibodies.

9 f. Except as provided under subdivision c, a presumption created in this subsection 10 does not apply if the essential worker's place of employment was solely the 11 essential worker's home or residence for a period of fourteen or more 12 consecutive days immediately before the essential worker's injury or period of 13 incapacity resulting from exposure to COVID-19.

14 g. The date of injury is either the date the essential worker was unable to work due
15 to contraction of COVID-19 or was unable to work due to symptoms later 16 diagnosed as COVID-19, whichever came first.

17 h. To qualify for temporary total disability benefits under the presumptions created in 18 this subsection, the essential worker must be certified for or recertified for 19 temporary disability.

20 i. The organization may not deny a claim for benefits in which the employee is an 21 essential worker whose injury resulted from the exposure to and contraction of 22 COVID-19 if the reason for the denial would be the essential worker received
23 financial assistance for COVID-19 related expenses under the North Dakota 24 medical expense assistance program. The organization shall subtract any 25 amount received by an essential worker under the North Dakota medical 26 expense assistance program from any benefits approved under this section.

27 SECTION 2. RETROACTIVE APPLICATION. This Act applies retroactively to a claim for 28 workers' compensation benefits filed after March 24, 2020, regardless of date of injury. An 29 essential worker who has submitted a claim for benefits between March 24, 2020, and the 30 effective date of this Act for exposure to and contraction of COVID-19 may resubmit the claim if 31 the initial claim was denied by the organization for not being a compensable injury.

1       SECTION 3. EXPIRATION DATE. This Act is effective through July 31, 2023, and after that 2       date is ineffective.
