Minutes:

Att # 1, 2, 3, 4 –Sen Joan Heckaman

Chairman Davison: We will open SB2324.

Sen. Joan Heckaman, Dist. 23: I am the sponsor of this bill. (see att #1, #2, #3, #4) Attachment #4 tells what other states are doing. Any questions?

Sen. Shawn Vedaa: When I look at a new district, I think of small. Is this not as prevalent in rural but more urban. How we draw these lines?

Sen Heckaman: I think it is state wide. It is happening. My district is an example. In 2000, there was gerrymandering. I am looking at an independent commission. I know there are block cut out to benefit districts. Other states are finding there are fairer ways.

Sen. Shawn Vedaa: I think you will find that people will explain that is has to do with population. Districts change.

Chairman Davison: How did you identify in section one, the people you choose? Is that your choice?

Sen. Heckaman: Somewhat from other states so. I looked at retired judges, etc. that I thought would be non-partisan. L.C. looked at other states and seeing how they formed their commission. Urbans are growing and rural not. My district may be absorbed. (14.30)

John Bjornson, Legislative Council Director (L.C.): We are neutral. I can talk about the history. Between 1930 and 1965, there was not redistricting on N.D. In '964 the Supreme Court made the decision that district should be equal. N.D. was in a state of litigation for 10 years. I came to L.C. in 1988. In 1991 there was an interim committee set up with 8 House and 8 Senate people. We provided staff and I was legal counsel. Dr Floyd Hickock created his own computer program and had a unique system for us. He was the only one who could create these maps. In 2001, we found commercial software became an option. Our office did the redistricting. We worked with a 16-member interim committee. Constitutionally, we can have no more than 54 districts and no less than 40. That number is determined by the interim committee. Our population has increased again so the districts will increase again, maybe over 16,000 people per district. This will affect every district in North Dakota. (22.20) Some people do not fill out the census form so that is a problem.

Sen. Kristin Roers: South Fargo will have to shrink. My southern border is the diversion line. Are you allowed to consider things out side of just population? That line is a barrier.

John: Great question. (23.46) Population is the guiding one. Communities of interest, division of political subdivisions are considered, also. We did not think Sen. Heckaman's district would service two redistricting's ago. We should not divide large minority populations either,

Sen. Erin Oban: Can you print all of us maps from censuses?

John: Sure

Chairman Davison: Any more support? Against? Hearing is closed. (27.23)

Explanation or reason for introduction of bill/resolution:

Relating to a nonpartisan advisory redistricting commission.

Minutes:

Chairman Davison: Look at SB2324. Any amendments out there?

Sen. Erin Oban: I forgot I was going to. It was minor. Line 21, page 1. I do not think specifying the number of districts in Code is necessary. It is between 40 and 54 in Code. (.46)

Chairman Davison: I don't feel our system is broke. I see challenges in other states.

Sen. Jay Elkin: I agree. What is the purpose of this bill? I believe the system we have does work.

Sen. Erin Oban: The bill would say that the individuals responsible for redistricting after a census, would be a combination of the seven members, outlined in lines 10-19. The last census, Sen. Heckaman outlined this in testimony. I don't think this should be partisan. The committee is 12 to 4 in favor of majority party. That is wrong, I feel.

Sen. Kristin Roers: Did she bring in examples from other states? How abnormal is our process?

Chairman Davison: I think the process is different in every state. Some has been defined in the courts because of the corruption in some states. (3.52) It is caused by both sides. I was part of the redistricting as a district chair. It is a matter of your perspective.

Sen. Erin Oban: It may not be broken; just that it can be better. (5.21)

Vice Chair Meyer: I move a DO NOT PASS.

Sen. Jay Elkin: I second.

Sen. Shawn Vedaa: On this example of 50 people from Sen. Heckaman. There was no example of both winning.

Chairman Davison: Any more discussion.

Sen. Erin Oban: One more fact. Myself, Sen. Davison, Sen Meyer, and Sen. Roers all represent districts that could be swayed a different way by shifting 100 people. (6.18)

Chairman Davison: Anymore?

Vice Chair Meyer: We don't know what each block will do to change the vote.

Chairman Davison: Take the role: YES -- 5 NO -- 2 -0-absent.
The DO NOT PASS – passed. Chairman Davison will carry the bill.

SB 2324

SENATE GOVERNMENT AND VETERANS AFFAIRS COMMITTEE

February 1, 2019

Senator Heckaman

CHAIRMAN AND MEMBERS OF THE COMMITTEE: I am Senator Joan Heckaman from D-23 and I am here today to introduce SB 2324 to you.

In North Dakota we have already begun the process of redistricting with Legislative Council participating in national conversations about the work that needs to be done preparing for the census and using that data to redraw or to consider redrawing legislative boundaries.

This bill establishes a nonpartisan advisory redistricting commission that would be tasked with using the census data to devise a plan that divides ND into 47 legislative district that complies with the requirements in the US Constitution. After that plan has been developed, the commission will submit the plan and any legislation necessary to implement the plan to legislative management for their consideration. You will note that the commission composition is varied with the opportunity for legislators to still serve. For your information I have provided the composition of the last redistricting committee in a hand out.

As we enter the phase of legislative redistricting that will analyze the data from the 2020 census, it is incumbent upon us to provide a fair method of determining boundaries for districts. (Hand out)

History finds that gerrymandering has taken place when district lines were drawn to the benefit of incumbent legislators or districts at the expense of proportionality and fair representation. Gerrymandering is an unfortunate process that restricts the voices of voters by dividing up communities, town, and counties into different legislative districts simply because it serves a partisan goal.

To address fairness in redistricting, several states already have commissions that take the politics out of the process, which is exactly what should happen.

SB2324

2-1-19

Legislators should not be able to pick their voters. Voters should pick their legislators.

According to the National Conference of State Legislatures, 14 states have commissions that either have the primary responsibility for redistricting or serve in an advisory capacity to draw district lines. Five states have Backup Commissions that make the decision of the legislature is unable to agree. Iowa conducts redistricting unlike any other state in that nonpartisan legislative staff develop the maps for the House and Senate as well as the US House districts.

(Handout)

This method in this bill would be transparent, representative, and accountable to the people of North Dakota by ensuring district lines are drawn fairly and in a manner that respects the various communities and political subdivisions in our state. It is through this manner that we ensure that elected officials are truly serving the best interests of the communities they represent.

Redistricting is an important process that impacts representation, either positively or negatively. It is my hope that we can be non-partisan in North Dakota and join the other state who recognize the importance of the process.

Chairman, that concludes my testimony and I would stand for any questions you may have.

Redistricting Commissions: State Legislative Plans

1/21/2019

The information on this webpage refers only to commissions used to draw state legislative maps.

Traditionally, state legislatures have been responsible for redistricting for state legislative congressional districts. Since the landmark Supreme Court decisions of the 1960s that established the one-person, one-vote principle, a number of states have shifted redistricting of state legislative district lines from the legislature to a board or commission. There are pros and cons to removing the process from the traditional legislative process to a commission. Re却mers often mistakenly assume that commissions will be less partisan than legislatures when conducting redistricting but that depends largely on the design of the board or commission.

NCSL has categorized the commissions as either having primary responsibility for redistricting, serving in an advisor capacity, or operating as a back-up commission in cases where the legislature does not meet its deadline. All states represented in the tables below draw legislative districts through state legislative authority.

Fourteen states have a commission with primary responsibility for drawing a plan for state legislative districts. Six states have an advisory commission that may assist the legislature with drawing the district lines and five states have a backup commission that will make the decision if the legislature is unable to agree. See below for Iowa's redistricting plan, which is distinct from the other categories.

Also, check out:

- NCSL's Redistricting Commissions: Congressional Plans page for more on how commissions states use commissions to draw congressional district lines

If the four deadlock, the commission on appellate court appointments appoints the chair.
Arkansas	3	Name: Board of Apportionment
Ark. Const. 1874, art. 8		Selection Requirements: Commission consists of the governor, secretary of state, and the attorney general
California	14	Name: Citizen's Redistricting Commission
Cal. Const. Article XXI		Selection Requirements: With the Passage of Proposition 11 in 2008, the process of redrawing California's state legislative districts was removed from state legislative authority and given to a newly established 14 member commission. The commission must include 5 Democrats, 5 Republicans and 4 members from neither party. Government auditors are to select 60 registered voters from an applicant pool. Legislative leaders can reduce the pool; the auditors then are to pick eight commission members by lottery, those commissioners pick six additional members for 14 total. For approval of district boundaries need votes from three Democratic commissioners, three Republican commissioners, and three commissioners from neither party.
Colorado	12	Name: Independent Legislative Redistricting Commission
Colo. Const. art. V, §§ 46-48.3, as amended Nov. 6, 2018		Selection Requirements: A panel of three retired justices or judges from the Colorado Supreme Court or the Colorado Court of Appeals of different party affiliation will randomly select by lot 300 applicants from amongst all applicants who met the qualification requirements from each of the two largest political parties and 450 who are not affiliated with any political party. From these pools, the panel will select 50 from each pool based on their merit. From these pools, the panel will choose by lot two commissioners from each of the largest two parties and two who are unaffiliated. The majority and minority leaders in the House and Senate each select a pool of ten candidates from all qualified applicants who are associated with the two largest political parties. The panel of judges selects one commissioner from each legislative leader's pool and two commissioners from the pool of unaffiliated applicants selected earlier. Geographic distribution based on congressional districts and a final selection of four commissioners from each of the two largest parties and four unaffiliated commissioners is required.
Hawaii	9	Name: Reapportionment Commission
Hawaii Const. art. IV		Selection Requirements: President of the Senate selects two. Speaker of the House selects two. The minority leader in both the house and senate of each party each select one of their number. Those two each select one. These

OTHER

Iowa

Iowa conducts redistricting unlike any other state. The Iowa system does not put the task in the hands of a commission, but rather the legislature does. Nonpartisan legislative staff develop maps for the Iowa House and Senate as well as U.S. House districts without any political or electoral influence. This is different from all other states. For a detailed description of the Iowa system Click here.

About This NCSL Project

Redistricting is the process of redrawing state legislative and congressional district boundaries every 10 years by state legislatures following the decennial U.S. Census. NCSL helps prepare legislatures and others for the redistricting cycle with comprehensive information on redistricting law, technology and process. NCSL collects data and information on new legislative and congressional districts.
